THE COMING STATE CONVENTION. EFFORTS OF MR. CONKLING'S PRIENDS TO GAIL CONTROL-POSSIBLE CANDIDATES.

The preparations for the Republican State Convention, which will meet in this city on October 5, continue throughout the State, notwithstanding the great sorrow that has fallen upon the people. Causes and primaries having been previously advertised, and the time being short before the Convention meets, they could not well be postponed. Delegates have been elected from a number of dis-tricts outside of the city. Here the primaries will be held in the latter part of the coming week. Contesting delegations have already en elected from two or three country districts, and there are indications that more may be expected. While there is a general desire among Republicans to put factional differences aside, there is a certain element which may cause trouble. In speaking on this subject yesterday a gentleman who has held high honors in the Republican party

"I have had occasion to visit different parts of the State recently, and I have become convinced that whatever discord there may be in the State Convention will be entirely due to the desperate efforts of Mr. Conkling to retain control of the organization. There is no doubt that three-fourths of the party in the State are opposed to the attempt of Mr. Conkling and his intimate friends to manage the organization for their own special benefit. I ave met these men at work in different parts of the State trying to influence the election of delegates and I know that contests have been made under their direction. Mr. Conkling was at Utica managing the caucuses there, and he left this city again on Arthur is concerned I find no disposition among Reblicans to do anything but support his Adminiswe sat up pretty late last night," continued the nize any faction, but to be President for the good of the light on Fire Island, and so failed to get a long the country. But the Republicans of this State will night's rest. The voyage was in every respect a trol their State Convertion, with a struggle, allow Mr. Conkling to contheir State Convention with a view of vindicating their his recent political course. I have been told by his friends that he will endeavor to get him-told by his friends that he will endeavor to get himself chosen chairman of the Convention."

There is no question that many of those Republicans who are called "Stalwarts" are working hard to control the Convention, but it is believed by those opposed to them that they will not succeed. The contest seems to be directed rather to the control of the organization and the "vindication" of a few persons than to particular nominations. There has then been no dispute in regard to the Administration of President Garfield. All conventions that have been held, both regular and bolting, have been unanimous in passing resolutions of sympathy and support for his Administration.

and conventions that have been held, both regular and bolting, have been unanimous in passing resolutions of sympathy and support for his Administration.

There has been little mention of candidates, Secretary of State Carr, and Attorney General Ward age candidates for reelection. Treasurer Wendell in the one time was said not to be a candidate. His friends now say that he has reconsidered his intention to retire. Controller Wadsworth is said to feel sure of the nomination for Congress to succeed Senator Lapham. Two or three persons have been mentioned for the place, including George B. Sloan, of Oswego, and Assemblyman Duguid, of Onondaga. It is not imprebable that an entire new ticket may be nominated.

There has been a good deal of talk of sending opposing delegations to the Convention from this city, on the ground that the existing organization here is not in harmony with good party management. The grounds of objection are that the delegates to the nominating conventions are elected by an exclusive organization conventions are elected by an exclusive organization can vote at the primaries. In this way three-fourths of the Republicans in the city are disfranchised, so far as making nominations are concerned. It is probable that contesting delegations will be elected from part of the districts, but whether from all or not is uncertain. There has been no decision yet as to the hall in which the Convention is to be held, but an effort will be made to secure the Academy of Music.

DEMOCRATIC DISSENSIONS.

THE ACTION OF THE POLICE COMMISSIONERS IN THE APPOINTMENT OF INSPECTORS OF ELECTION SEVERELY CRITICISED.

The action of the majority of the Police Comdissioners in dividing the Inspectors of Elec-ion among the three Democratic factions in this city naturally created a good deal of dissatisfaction on the part of the leaders of the New-York County Democracy. That body is only allowed one-eighth of the Inspectors of Election. The result of this is that in one-half of the election districts the New-York County Democracy will have no repre-

Hubert O. yesterday, "It is an rageous proceeding. It places the New-York County Democracy on a par with the Irving Hall organization, which exists only on paper, while the former wa organized under the rules prescribed by the State Convention, and more truly represents the Democratic party in this city than any other organization. It shows clearly that any Hall and the men who run Irving Hall all act, ing in collusion. I believe also that Tammany Hall has made some sort of 'deal' with the 'machine' Republicans. The question whether the action of the Poli missioners will be reviewed in the courts rests with the Law Committee of the New-York County Democ

the Law Committee of the New-York County Democracy. In any case we shall watch the polis closely and see that all votes legally cast are counted for the candidates for whom they are cast."

Corporation Counsel Whitney said that he thought the New-York County Democracy should follow up the matter. If it could be shown that there was a bargam made between Tammany Hall and the Republicans, he believed it would help the New-York County Democracy.

John Kelly said: "The division of the Inspectors of Election by the Police Commissioners is, I think, a fair one. Tammany Hall represents the majority of the Democracy of this city. The recognition of the New-York County Democracy of that organ ization. Had it been given no representation among the Inspectors of Election there would have been no cause of complaint, for that body has never been fully organized and has never been recognized by a State Convention."

E. Ellery Anderson, chairman of the Law Committee of the New-York County Democracy, and one of the leaders of the Committee of One Hundred, which did the preliminary work of organization, said last evening: "Our committee decided not to contest the matter in the courts. It is doubtful whether the courts would not decide that the Police Commissioners had the power to take the action they did. Of course, we consider it an outrage. But we will fight the matter out at the polls. We believe our organization commands the support of two-thirds of the Democracy of this city, and we will decide it by our vote on local candidates in November. Undoubtedly there are men in our organization who are office-seckers, but the great mass of those who compose it are in favor of honest government and a free exposition of opinion. With good candidates we can sweep the city. We will try conclusions at the polls, and take such measures as will insure an honest count of the votes cast."

ALASKA ENTERS POLITICS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23 .- A dispatch from Port Townsend says the steamer Los Angeles arrived there yesterday from Sitka. The election of a delegate to Congress from Alaska took place on September 5 Colonel M. D. Ball, late Collector of Customs, was elected by a large majority. The election created considerable interest in the district, but had no political significance whatever. Colonel Ball departs on the next steamer for Washington.

THE WHITESTOWN CAUCUS.

A DENIAL FROM C. M. DENNISON To the Editor of The Tribune. SIR: The report of the Whitestown caucus, Oneida County, in your paper to-day is grossly false. I presided at the caucus which lasted an hour, remaining all the time on the platform. I gave no blows and received none. No hostlie hands touched my person or clothing and neither received the slightest injury.

ATTACKED BY A JEALOUS HUSBAND.

A GERMAN STABS HIS BOARDER AND KNOCKS DOWN

HIS WIFE. Henry Helms, a German of middle age, who formerly kept a small cabinet shop in Fifteenth-st., gave up his business about three months ago and took a position as porter in a Bowery hotel. He lived on the third floor of the tenement-house at No. 183 Chrystie-st. with his wife and two children. Being in straitened circumstances, in July last e rented a part of the floor, furnished, to Henry Minsche, a widower, forty years old, who was employed in a brass finishing factory in the lower part of the city. Recently Helmsbecame very jealous on ecount of some attention shown by the boarder to rs, Helms, but Minsche and his landlady took very little notice of his feelings, betrayed by his words and actions.

Last evening Mrs. Helms was in the bedroom occupied by Minsche, and was talking with him, when her husband arrived from his work. The door leading from the hall into the room was open. As soon as Helms saw his wife and the boarder talking together he flew into a violent passion, and threatened to kill them both. Mrs. Helms ran down stairs, while her husband attacked Minsche with great furv. The inmates of the house heard the two men fighting for nearly ten minutes. Then Minsche ran down stairs and into the street bleeding from gashes in the neck, back and right arm which Helms had inflicted with a chisel. He was assisted to the Eldridge-st. police station, where he declared that Helms had stabbed him without cause. An ambulance was summoned and he was taken to the Chambers-st. Hospital. The surgeons said his wounds were very serious.

Hospital. The surgeons said his wounds were very serious.

After the stabbing Helms went down stairs in search of his wife. He induced her by threats to go to their rooms, and when they were alone together he knocked her down with a rolling-pin, and kicked her about the body until she fainted. He then left the house, and was gone about an hour. When he returned again he was arrested and locked up. He would not tell the police what grounds he had for suspecting his wife, but he admitted that jealousy had led him to stab Minsche. Mrs. Helms was not injured seriously, but her face and body were covered with bruises. She said last night that her husband had no cause for jealousy.

Colonel Judd is a large man, weighing perhaps 250 pounds. His face is red and full, his chin double, and his black hair slightly traged with irongray. He wears a moustache and a small beard of the same color as his hair. King Kalakaua is of the same build as the Colonel. His name is pronounced "Kal-a-ka-oo-a," with the accent on the "oo,"
"We sailed from Hawaii," said Colonel Judd,

January 20, and stopping in San Francisco for a short t ae, took the steamer for Yokohama, wher we arrived early in March. Wherever we went is our voyage entertainments were tendered to the King; but at Yokohama, having just heard the news of the Czar's assassination, King Kalakana refused all public invitations. Leaving Japan, we sailed westward, visiting Singapore, Penang, Cal-cutta and other cities of Southern Asia. We went Bombay and Aden, passed through the Suez Canal then came down and took ship for Sicily. The first In Italy we visited Rome and Pompeii. We then went to Paris, but after a short stay bastened to London, as the King was anxious not to miss the grand review. Queen Victoria received our pariy with the utmost hospitality. We returned to the Continent again, however, visiting Brussels, Cologne, Berlin, Vienne, Paris, Madrid, Lisbon and many other cities. Then we returned to London once more."

"How was the King impressed by Europe?"

"Well, he enjoyed the journey, but he has come to the conclusion that the world isn't so big as he thought, and that, after all, there is no place like home. The Sandwich Islands—or rather the Hawaitan Islands, for we don't like the old name—thave the finest elimate in the world—no hot summers, no cold winters; the temperature averages 69%, and we live in persetual spring."

"Then the King does not contemplate disposing of his kingdom?"

"Then the King does not contemplate disposing of his kingdom?"
"That is one of the many absurd rum as that have appeared in the newspapers about him. Nothing could be further from his thoughts. How these rimors originate I cannot imagine. Why, some of the English newspapers on lished a report that Kalakana's visit to the United States was for the purpose of getting his kingdom annexed, and that two British men-of-war had been dispatched to Hawaii to look after British interests. Such reports are the height of absurdity. We were annoved by gossip in the Vienna journals, too. There was an Austrian Baron with us-4 forcet his name—whose actions, which were not in themselves particularly improper, were fastened upon the Foyal party. We were travelling incog, and I can't imagine how we were recognized. There are a great many places the King likes to see, where he could not go in his Royal capacity. He wants to see all sales of life."

see all sides of life."

"What country impressed him most pleasantly?"

"Well, I herdly know. He enjoyed himself very well in San Francisco, and in England, too. In fact, it was all pleasant. One of the sights that pleased him most was the Paris Electrical Exhibition. We spent s. me time there. Kalakana is going to introduce the electric light in his own kingdom; and he examined the different lamps on that ac ount with the greatest interest. The life in Paris entertained him very much; they turn night into day there. The military review before Queen Victoria was a grand affair, too. But there was so much to see, it is hard to pick out any one thing."

"How has the journey affected the King's health?"

"How has the journey affected the King's health?"
"It has benefited him very much. He is in every way better than he was when he left home."
"How will he pass his time in the city?"
"Very quietly. He will accent no public invitations out of respect to President Garfield. The news of the President's d ath first reached him this morning, and he wishes to avoid ostentation while the country is mourning. Tomorrow (Saturday) afternoom Kalakana wishes to see Coney Island. We shall probably go to Manhattan Beach and stay until evening. Sanday will be passed quetty, and Monday night the party exp cts to leave New-York for Philadelphia. We shall visit Baltimore Tuesday, going from there to Hampton, Va. Then we go to Washington, and from there to Lexington, Ky., Omaha and San Francisco. We expect to leave San Francisco for Hawati October 27, in the steamer Australia. The voyage out occupies about seven days."

pect to leave San Francisco for Hawaii October 27, in the steamer Australia. The voyage out occupies about seven days."

"What is the object of visiting Lexington ?"

"Kalakaua is very fond of blooded horses. Three years 2go I came to Lexington and bought seven fine horses, which I sent home to Hawaii. One of the horses was aired by the sire of Iroquois, and they were all of the best pedigree. These horses have thrived very well in Pacific lands, and the King wants to see the blooded stock in Lexington for himself. We saw some races in England, though we missed both the Derby and the St. Leger."

"Does the King employ an interpreter?"

"Not here. He speaks English, but no other tongue except the native Hawaiian. Those two languages are the prevalent ones in the islands. The language used at court is chiefly the native tongue, but almost all cultivated persons speak English. We have a nobility, though it is not so exclusive as the British aristocracy. This badge," pointing to a small round pin on the breast of his coat, "is the sign of the order of Kamehameha and Kalakaua. Twenty nobles are elected, who constitute the state nobility."

"How has the kingdom been governed during the nobility."

"How has the kingdom been governed during the absence of Kalakana ?"

"He left the government in the hands of his sister Lilinokalani. Everything has gone on quietly and peacefully during our absence. His Majesty will return to his kingdom gratified by his experience, but very glad to get back to his little reaim."

MURDERED BY HIS SHIPMATE.

N ITALIAN STABBED TO THE HEART IN A QUAR-REL ON BOARD A VESSEL AT THE ATLANTIC DOCK, BROOKLYN.

An unprovoked murder took place on board of he Italian bark Bearzone, at the foot of Thirtyninth-st., Atlantic Dock, Brooklyn, yesterday mornng. A tugbeat was about to remove the vessel ing. A tugbeat was about to remove the vessel, and the sailors were busy making fast the ropes. Some angry words passed between Antonio Delcomo and Riccardo Giobatta. The former was told he did not know how to fasten a rope, and thereupon drew his sheath knife and stabbed Giobatta to the heart. The wounded man fell dead on the dock. His assailant was seized and put in irons and the police of the Eighth Sub-Precinct were called. The prisoner was arraigned before Justice Bergen and committed to the Raymond Street Jail. Coroner Keiler made arrangements to hold an inquest on the murdered man to-day. Delcomo has the reputation of being very quarrelsome. Several of the crew were held as witnesses.

WATCHING THE NIHILISTS. THE CHARACTER WHICH AN EX-PEDLER HAS AS-SUMED.

A small, swarthy stranger for about two weeks has been a frequent visi or at Police Headquarters where his business always was with certain members of Inspector Byrnes's staff, of whom Detective Robert McNaught was one. Some time ago McNaught was transferred to the Special Service Squad, a subdivision of the detective force, the members of which are employed on special cases that require special freedom from office duty. Soon after he disappeared from Police Headquarters and was not heard of for two weeks during which time the stranger was occasionally seen as before going out and in. SUMED.

Recently a reporter's attention was directed to this man's movements and by patient inquiry it was learned that he was an employe of the Russian Government engaged in seeking some information about the movements and alleged plottings of Russian Government engaged in seeking some information about the movements and alleged plottings of Russian ferugees in this city. The man's name is Michalson, and he lives at No. 206 Forsyth-st. He is a Russian, born in one of the Baltic scaports, and intil six or eight weeks ago earned his living as a pedier of drygoods. Acting upon some real or fancied discovery made in his wanderings among his countrymen, he offered his services to the Russian Minister, Mr. Bartholomei, to watch the alleged Nihilists and to pry into their plots. They were accepted, and in a letter from the Russian Consul in this city, of which the reporter obtained possession, he was summoned to meet Mr. Bartholomei. Furnished with letters to the police of this city Michalson repaired to Inspector Byrnes's office and the result was the sending of Detective McNaught to the Russian Minister's aummer residence at Newport. The nature of his business there has been kept a sceret as a well as the fact of his presence in that city, though it extended over fully two weeks, during which letters passed between the New-York officer and Michalson.

Michals a, when questioned directly about the progress of his case, admitted that he had last track a week ago of a band of plotting political refugees, whose meeting-place on the cast side he had discovered; the conspirators had unexpectedly changed their meeting-place. When questioned about Hartmana's connection with the affair, he displayed a degree of ignorance about his mission, plivested of all sensational features, the case seems to be that Michalson has assumed the role of political spy for the gain his real or imaginary discoverses would bring him, and has

DECORATIVE WORK BY WOMEN.

A pl using display of artistic work done by women ay now be seen in the rooms of the Society of De-ative Art, No. 28 East Twenty-first-st. Naturally crative Art, No. 28 East Twenty-first-st. Naturally there were few visitors and buyers in the warm months, and this has caused an attractive exhibits a accommulate. Visitors, mostly ladies, are beginning to frequent the rooms, however, and the society looks forward to another successful season. The demolition of the building, No. 34 East Nineteenth-st., the home of the society, last spring rendered the lease of another house necessary. The present home of the society, which has been leased for a number of years, is a four-story brown stone building. The first two floors are used for the exhibition and sale of articles; the next floor above is occupied by the classes in painting and needlework; and the top floor is used as a work-room by the regular employes of the society. The society did nor get fully moved into its new quarters until about June 1.

There are now on exhibition many pretty dainty articles. Among them may be noticed several stik screeps ornamented with painted holly-hocks, autimated several sev

THE ELECTRIC LIGHTS IN THE SQUARES. The Brush Electric Illuminating Company is removing the machinery used in hoisting the lamps to the electric lights on the pole in Madison care. At the time of the accident in Union care the hoisting appliances on the two poles were illar, but as the experiment of raising the lamp one pole was so unsatisfactory, new machinery been made, and it is probable that the lamps been made, and it is probable that the lamps been made, and it is probable that the lamps been made, and it is probable that the lamps is been made, and it is probable that the lamps is been made on the company to do anything with the pole in ion Square until the new machinery has been groundly tested in Madison Square. There are eral improvements in the new apparatus, which is only fair to state, were in the original plan, but some reason was not used. The cast iron wheel is only fair to state, were in the original plan, but r some reason was not used. The cast iron wheel hich by ke and caused the "carriages" to fall has sen replaced by a brass wheel. The carriages ee only one-half the weight of those formerly on ee pole. The drums around which the cables are ound are not changed either in size or position, it the windlass, which before was placed above to platform, has now been put under it, and the en raising the lamps will stand on the ground. But the most important addition has been the men raising the lamps will stand on the ground.

But the most important addition has been the placing of an indicator, consisting of a movable iron rod fastened to the pole and attached to a gong near the windlass. When the lamps are within eight inches of the top of the pole the rod is raised and the gong strikes. In this way the workmen are in no danger of overstraining the machinery by having the "carringes" reach the top before they know it. This indicator was to have been placed on the Union Square pole the day after the light had been tested, but in their haste to light the lamps the company had not time to complete all their original plans.

A NEW FRENCH STEAMSHIP.

A NEW FRENCH STEAMSHIP.

The opening of a new line between this port and the south of France, known as the Compagnie Bordelaise de Navigation a Vapeur, has created considerable interest among shippers. The pioneer steamship of the line was the Chateau Laditte, which sailed with a full cargo of freight and passengers for Bordeaux about three weeks ago. The second new st amship, the Chateau Leoville, lying at Pier (new) No. 37 North River, was visited by a large number of shippers and others interested in steamship enterprise yesterday. This vessel is commanded by Captain Ollivier, and her other principal officers are: F. Faudet, purser; E. Brun, chief engineer, and Dr. Dumilieu.

It was supposed that the traffic of the line would be principally confined to freight carrying, but owing to the increased passenger traffic to ports in the south of France and spain, the Chateau Leoville has been fitted with accommodations for about fifty cabin passengers and 600 steerage passengers. The cabin and stateroom accommodations are exceptionally good, everything having been done in the way of light and ventilation to insure the comfort of the passengers. The cabin and staterooms are on the main deck and are litted with all the modern conveniences. The vessel is built of the best rolled plate iron, and combines all the latest improvements in naval architecture. Her dimensions have already been published. She will be followed by two other steamships, now in course of construction.

BOOKS SOLD TO THE TRADE.

There was a large attendance at the Trade Book Sale yesterday. The sale opened with the publications of Little, Brown & Co., The Encyclopadia Britannica and the Life and Works of Daniel Webster were among the books offered. There were several editions of Poe's works from the press of W. J. Widdleton & Co., of this city. Roberts Brothers, of Boston, offered a large line or juvenile books by Louisa M. Alcott, Susan Coolidge, Louise Chandler Moulton, the Rev. E. E. Hale and others. The Red Line edition of Jean Ingelow's poems and Philip Gibert Hamerton's works were put up for sale by the same house. Clark & Maynard, of New-York, offered works on Fremsonry and Oddfellow-ship. About 2,500 of Mrs. Browning's poems in various editions, from the press of James Miller, of New-York, were also sold. E. Claxton & Co., of Philadelphia, offered a large line of standard works. Works from the National Publishing Company and Andrew F. Graves & Co., were also among those sold yesterday. The sale closed with the publications of Sheidon & Co., who offered a large line of school books and juvenile works.

SUDDEN ADVANCE IN BREADSTUFFS. Considerable excitement prevailed at the opening of the Produce Exchange yesterday because of the sudden advance in breadstuffs, which was attributed, in part, to a reported "corner" in the Chicago corn market. Flour, mainly of the medium grades, opened at 20 to 25 cents a barrel higher. The pricawas lower before the close. Wheat was feverish and unsettled at the opening, with an advance of 1 to 13s cents a bushel on "options," and 34 to 2 cents on "cash" offerings. A part of the ad-vance was lost in the course of the day. There was a moderate export trade, and a large trade on specu-lative accounts. Corn was about a cent a bushel higher, and oats a trifle better.

BEGINNING OF THE JEWISH YEAR.

The year 5.642 began last night. This is the reckoning according to Jewish tradition dating from the creation of the world. It is called Roch Hass hough, the day on which God opens the book of life and registers the rewards and punishments which will befall mortals in the ensuing year. This month is called Tishi and yesterday, the Day of Judgment, which has ushered in at sunset. The tenth day of the month is the Day of Atonement which in the ol en times was observed by the priests who made atoning sacrifices. Since the Destruction of the Temple it, with the Day of Judgment, has been set apart by the Jews for meditation and self-examination preparatory to the duties of the new year. Orthodox and Liber 1 Jews have held these anniversaries sacred, and have closed their stores and spent the day in worship.

All the Jewish Synagogues in this city held services last night in observance of the Day of Judgment. They will be continued this morning. At the Beth-El, in Sixty-third-st., Rabbi Kaufman Kohler referred fee ingly to those who have dled in the course of the year, and dwelt upon the consolation afforted by religion for the adversities of life. He also enlogized the dead President and expressed his sorrow at the sad event. In his prayer he be sought Divine consolation for Mrs. Garfield and success and enlightenment for the new Administration. Memorial services will be held at the Beth-El Monday afternoon at the same hour that the funeral of President Garfield takes place.

Services appropriate to the beginning of the Hebrew new year 5642 A. M., will be held in the Jewish synagogues in Brooklyn to-day. BEGINNING OF THE JEWISH YEAR.

RESULTS OF SUBURBAN ROBBERIES.

A large collection of stolen property, comprising the fruits of several suburban robberies, was taken A large collection of stolen property, comprising the fruits of several suburban robberies, was taken to Police Headquarters yesterday and on Thursday. A c usiderable portion of this property was identified yesterday as belonging to Percey R. Pyne, a Wall street broker, and to Colgate White, of Yonkers. Other articles are known to have been stolen from the houses of Mrs. Stevens, in Hoboken, Charles A. Nelson, at Fort Washington, and Mr. Kepoler, of Puck, at Riverdale. Several of the thieves were arrested some time ago. On Thursday last Detective Hickey obtained information that some of the stilen property was in the keeping of Abram Silverstein, at No. 44 Baxter-st. A search warrant was procured and property to the amount of $1.000 was found in Silverstein's house. Accompanied by some other officers, Detective Hickey yesterday afternoon went to No. 131 East Thirteenth-s, and searched the rooms occupied by Mrs. Pauline Guil, the wife of one of the burglars. He found there stolen articles worth about $1,500.
